OTTERBEIN UNIVERSITY

A standard, up to-date, American college, with strong faculty, modern equipment, flourishing literary societies and Christian Associations, and vigorous college life.

The College carries two courses, the Arts Course and the Science Course.

The Academy accommodates those who have not had the advantages of a standard high school.

The Adjunct Departments of Music and Art enjoy a large patronage and there are well organized Schools of Elocution and Commerce.

Expenses are very moderate—low, considering the high grade facilities.

The present attendance is the largest in the history of the institution

DR. HAYWOOD

VOL. XVII

DECEMBER 1906

No. 4

In Memoriam

On the morning of Dec. 13, the college and friends were shocked with the news of the death of Prof. John Haywood, who formed the last connecting link with the early days of Otterbein University. But a day or two previous he had been seen walking about the streets, seemingly in the best of health. On the evening of December 12, he conversed with the family as usual and read in a favorite book before retiring. But ere the morning dawned he had gone to his reward.

Dr. Haywood came to Otterbein from Oberlin in 1851, which gave rise to a strong feeling of friendship between the two schools. During those early days the college had its struggles, and through these Dr. Haywood was always a strong support. At one time, he and his wife, formerly Miss Sylvia Carpenter, constituted the entire teaching force. He maintained an active connection with Otterbein until 1893, when he was made professor emeritus. He practically gave his life to Otterbein, than which there could have been no higher gift.

As a man Dr. Haywood was clean, pure, straightforward, and of a sunny disposition. His greetings were so much sunshine for those he met.

As a scholar he was hard to equal. A persistent and faithful reader and student, he was able to make independent researches in various fields. Philosophy, mathematics and history received most of his attention. Astronomy was his delight. Many of his friends have been favored with an evening among the stars by means of his telescope.

Without reserve, we call Dr. Haywood great—"not as the world speaks it," but great in meekness, in scholarship, in friendship, and in character. We mourn him as one of the best friends that Otterbein knew.

Funeral Service

The funeral of Dr. Haywood was held in the chapel Saturday, December 16th, at 1:30 p. m. A singularly beautiful and impressive service was only befitting the life of so saintly a man. Large floral tributes from the faculty and from the two gentlemen's societies of the college were displayed. Music was furnished by a male quartet representing the student body. The pall bearers were chosen from the faculty in the order of the time of active service, so that Drs. Sanders, Scott, McFadden, Miller, Snively and Wagner carried the remains. A large number of friends and acquaintances of former years were in attendance.

President Bookwalter opened the service with prayer and scripture reading. Rev. Mr. Shane, of the Westerville Presbyterian church, led in prayer. A portion of a letter written by Dr. Haywood only a few days before his death to an old classmate was read, revealing the calm and confiding spirit in which he considered the past and looked forward to the future. The obituary was read by Dr. Garst, who was eminently fitted to bring together the facts in regard to Dr. Haywood's life.

"Abide with Me" was sung in an impressive manner, after which Dr. Sanders delivered an appreciation in behalf the faculty of the university. He laid emphasis on the fact that Dr. Haywood was ready to enter upon the new life. He possessed an ideal preparation for the future, his life being full of good works. Dr. Bookwalter and Dr. Thompson, former president of the college, each paid tributes to the life and character of this revered man. In a brief but touching manner the college pastor, Rev. Mr. Daugherty, delivered words of consolation to those who mourn the departed. Interment took place in Otterbein cemetery.

The football season of 1906 closed without a victory for Otterbein. Although the tan and cardinal team was ranked tenth among Ohio teams it should have a higher standing. It is true our schedule this year has been a rather heavy one, yet Otterbein has always played teams of the larger schools. Ohio State, Wesleyan, Kenyon, Ohio

Medics are schools which are naturally expected to beat us, but Wittenberg, Denison, Athens and Muskingum should have been held to tie scores, or beaten. So much for 1906. Next season is coming and our prospects are good.

Through the kindness of Coach Kalmbach, whose services the team have appreciated, we are enabled to give personal writeups of the players.

ENDS.

Ressler, right end, played his first year with the 'Varsity. His work was brilliant at times, but he failed to play a consistent and reliable game. He was light for the position for offense, and for defense had to depend upon speed and grit. When he was working at his best few plays circled his end and usually the player with the ball was thrown for a loss. He possesses ability and with more experience should develop into a reliable end. Trick plays did not deceive him in the least.

Beeson who played the other end on defense for the greater part of the season studied the game closely and was a consistent worker. He could break the interference without much difficulty, but he was weak in his grasp of an opponent and was easily shaken off. He did his best work in the first games of the season until he became greatly handicapped in his work by injuries which kept him out of the games when he was prepared to do his best work. He played at left half on offense and carried the ball fairly well for end runs. His line plunging was good for his weight. Frequently he tore up the opponent's line for five and ten-yard gains.

Keesy, at left end for two games, was an aggressive and hard player. With more experience he should make a valuable man as he possesses dash and plenty of grit. His greatest fault was tackling too high, a style of play that greatly marred his otherwise excellent showing. He was an entirely new man and did not come out till the latter games of the season.

TACKLES.

Left tackle was held down by Capt. Weaver, who played very consistent and reliable ball throughout the season. He possessed speed and aggressiveness in his work upon the line. Though a trifle light for the position he usually made up for his lack in weight by his method of attack using considerable tact in handling his opponent. It was his second year on the team, having played at center last year. He proved himself a splendid leader and a hard player, rugged and active, always in the game inspiring his men to do their best. Martin, his running mate at right tackle, was less experienced and relied more upon strength and pure grit. He also played consistent and reliable ball, but he was a trifle slow running in broken field. He was very aggressive in his work upon the line and fought his opponent hard persistently. The play of the tackles was strong and clean. Such men as they make football the grandest sport in America.

GUARDS.

Stouffer, at left guard, was the largest man of the team. From the first he developed rapidly and showed considerable growth in speed and aggressiveness, two things he requires chiefly to make a fast man at the tackle position and a good man to carry the ball, of which he gave some evidence in this season. He punts fairly well and for a heavy man runs rapidly in broken field.

Staley, who played right guard for the greater part of the season is short, strong, and possesses splendid endurance. He is built ruggedly. It was by hard work from the first day of practice till the close of the season that won for him a place upon the team. He lacks aggressiveness and speed but he is reliable and consistent in the game. For his diligent work he deserves the highest praise.

Bailey, O. A., was the most experienced man on the team but poor physical condition and injuries kept him out of the majority of the games. He played low and bucked hard. It was by main strength that he did his best work. At times he weakened through lack of endurance when his experience was greatly needed. It was his final year and had his health been good he would have played an exceptionally strong game. He was truly a faithful and persistent worker to the limit of his endurance.

CENTER.

His first year upon the 'Varsity won for Bailey a reputation as the quickest charger upon the line. Rightly did a prominent coach of Ohio speak of him after the first ten minutes of play in one of the hardest and fastest games of the season: "That fellow at center is playing the whole game for the opponents, for he got the last four tackles straight. A team all working like he would throw us for a loss each play." He is young and at times would weaken but with full strength he should make a fast, aggressive, and consistent player. Speed in charging and tackling ability should make him a valuable man at other positions in the time for another year. Menke who played center for one game was strong and reliable. He lacked speed and aggressiveness. However he was a hard man to handle and should make a valuable man for another year. Few gains of any distance could be made through him.

QUARTER.

Libecap was handicapped by a severe "Charlie Horse" keeping him out of three games, which hindered him greatly from doing his best work of the season. However his work was brilliant and he showed good generalship running the team and his enthusiasm and dash served as an inspiration to the other players. In the back field his play was consistent and reliable. He punted pretty well; his punts on the average netted well and seemed hard for opponents to handle. Carrying the ball and as a runner in broken field he was doubtless the best man on the team. He possessed speed and endurance and to make his work most brilliant for another year it will be necessary to find three men who can run with him. A fast interference is quite necessary for the development of fast men carrying the ball. He possesses the ability and characteristics to develop into a splendid player with further experience. He is a favorite man with the team and rightly deserves such a position as he is a firm and clear athlete. Titus showed cool judgment and good generalship in running the team and his experience made him a valuable man except that occasionally his work was somewhat erratic in the back field, while at times it was of the very best. His duties as manager and an injured knee detracted greatly from his regular work. With these two hindrances eliminated his work could have been of the brightest for he masters the fine points of the game and plays with considerable dash and speed.

HALF-BACKS.

This fall Learish, at right half, donned his suit for his first work upon the gridiron. Perhaps no man upon the team showed greater development in his work than he did for the short period in which he was connected with the 'Varsity. He had taken part in few scrimmages when he was lined up at right half with the regulars, where he played for the remainder of the season. He learned the game rapidly, carried the ball well, and played at rush line a strong defensive game, perhaps one of the best defensive backs on the team. He had weight, aggressiveness, and speed combined with plenty of reckless dash and cool judgment. He ought to make a star half back for Otterbein next year. Lambert, at left half, began the season at right end but later was shifted to left half where at times his work was of the best, especially on offense. He possessed speed and great endurance and a determination to do his best for the welfare of the team. He is short, strong, and well built for a half back. Upon defense at times he played excellent ball while at others he showed lack of confidence and experience. He plunges into the line with fierceness and has the weight and speed to carry himself through. On end he carries the ball very well and especially follows his interference closely.

FULL-BACK.

Watson played the last six games at full-back position and made for himself an excellent record for his hard line plunging and consistent play upon defense. For his first year, it was remarkable the way in which he developed in his work and the increasing strength he showed in each successive game. For his excellent work with such little experience in such an important position he proved himself worthy of the highest admiration and praise. He ran strongly and was a hard man to tackle.

KENYON GAME.

Otterbein closed the season of '06 at Kenyon November 17. The best game of the season was played at that place. Had Otterbein played such ball against some of the smaller teams no doubt victory would have been hers. The game was played on a muddy field, but it was a clean game, well played and interesting. Many times Otterbein held the Kenyon lads for downs in dangerous territory. Only after the hardest work and a penalty did Kenyon succeed in making her second touchdown. The best hope for Otterbein is that she may commence next season where she left off in the past one. Final score, Kenyon, 15—Otterbein, 0.

The football game played the Tuesday before Thanksgiving between the Senior, Sophomore, Prep aggregation and the Junior-Freshman team was the one most exciting and hotly contested seen on the Otterbein gridiron for some time. I. R. Libecap, '09, and R. F. Martin, '10, were elected captains for the game and both proved themselves able captains in the making. Several scrubs showed that they are in the game for 'Varsity O's next season but to speak of the "star plays" of the game would be merely to mention two or three plays of every man who played. The goal of each side was threatened several times during the game but neither side succeeded in scoring. Playing was speedy and clean and in fact the new rules have back positions, was an experienced player but he was not of rugged physical condition to do his best work for a whole game. He possessed speed and head work. His offensive was much better than his defensive work, usually playing a trifle high on defense, while at carrying the ball and running interference he did good work. He was perfectly loyal and reliable.

The second team did exceptionally strong work this year with the open

had no better demonstration on the local gridiron than in this game.

Enthusiasm on the side lines ran high and both players and rooters left the field convinced as never before that there is fun galore in football and many wondered too why there could not be more such games during the season.

THE TEAM.

Charles, who played at full and half style of play, and for the persevering work and hard tussels against the 'Varsity, they showed themselves worthy of the highest praise from the whole student body. They were of great assistance in developing the 'Varsity playing under the new rules with many inexperienced men. They played well and fought bravely and faithfully with true loyalty and noble college spirit for which they are deserving of the highest respect from all. While perhaps Rogers, Warner, Hawley, Sanders, Bailey C., and Saul did the best work yet in lauding them every member of the team is equally deserving of the highest praise for loyalty and true spirit.

Basket Ball.

Preliminary practice was instituted immediately after the close of the football season. Four of last year's 'Varsity together with several of the subs reported. Daily practices have been the order and from fifteen to twenty-five men have reported regularly. The work thus far has been all that could be desired so early in the season. From a critical standpoint the most noticeable weakness has been lack of unity in team work. However this has been gradually decreasing and with proper coaching will soon be overcome.

Perhaps a little dope would be in order, but it is not the intention of the writer to make any rash predictions as to the outcome of the season. If past records count for anything then Otterbein should have a successful season. With such men as Strahl, Sanders and Libecap at forward, Weaver and Hogg at center, and Capt. Smith, Bailey or Libecap at guard, Otterbein is assured a strong combination. All these men have had experience and can be counted on to do their duty.

A hard schedule of games has been arranged and a successful season means hard work for the players and hearty support from the student body. Let us forget the defeats of the past and all unite in making this the most successful season in the history of Otterbein. Imbibe some of the characteristic "Otterbein spirit" and show your loyalty to the team by being present at each game.

EDITORIAL

Otterbein mourns the loss of one of her greatest friends in the death of Prof. Haywood. Though not able to actively engage in the work of the university during recent years he yet added the influence of his presence.
His snowy-white head, his pleasant greeting, his modest bearing, coupled with his former connection with the university, inspired in all a feeling of reverence for him. And now that he has passed away we miss him.
Through all his years he has been faithful to duty, even against greatest odds. Surely his reward is great.

It has been his supreme delight to watch the rapid progress of the college during recent years. His whole heart, his whole life has been devoted to Otterbein. To such lives as his Otterbein owes her existence.

Debating interests again demand attention. The association is arranging debates with two or three other colleges, and it is expected that questions will be decided upon in the near future. Now is the time to plan for aggressive work of forensic character. After the teams have been selected there is no room for any complaint as to results. The time for action is here now. If you have the slightest hope of making any of the teams, and feel the proper interest in debating at Otterbein, it is your duty to enter the preliminaries. Arrange the winter schedule with this in view, then work hard on the question, and your part will have been fulfilled.

Cochran Hall Opens January 9.

The opening of our fine new dormitory, the Philip G. Cochran Memorial Hall, for the reception of the young women of Otterbein at the beginning of the winter term, January 9, is an assumed and most gratifying fact. The announcement of this to the readers of the Aegis will, we are sure, be a matter of as much interest to them as was its announcement at chapel to the student body. A young women's home has for years been one of the most urgent needs of Otterbein, and now at length we have a dormitory building ample, modern in every feature, and in every way attractive.

A general and full description of the building, its apartments and equipment, etc., will be left until our January number. We give now only information touching points of immediate interest to those contemplating entering the hall and their friends.

With the exception of a few rooms on the dormer or fourth floor, all rooms provide for the accomodation of two persons. The furniture is uniform throughout the building. Each room is provided with two study tables, a bookcase, four chairs, of which two are rockers, a dresser, and a large rug, all windows being provided with shade and rooms well lighted with electricity. Besides this ample study room are two bed alcoves, provided with single iron spring beds with mattress and pillows, a toilet set and having also a single wardrobe. Occupants provide all bedding besides that mentioned. These rooms are practically suites of rooms, and that of a most desirable kind. On each floor of the building are toilet and bath, with hot and cold water.

The rate of rent is determined by the floor location and size of the rooms. On the first and second floors the rent will be for each occupant, for corner rooms, $2.00 per week; for the other rooms, $1.50 per week; on the third floor, for corner rooms, $1.75; for other rooms, $1.25; on the fourth floor, for corner rooms, $1.25 and for others, $1.00.

The price of boarding will be $2.50 per week.

The present indications are that the hall will be filled in January.

Prof. Durrant (in geology class) holding up pictures supposed to represent life of the paleozoic age—Now these are good representations.

Porter (after looking carefully)—Professor, are these actual photographs?

The Roberson illustrated lecture on "India" was very fine. Many declared it the finest they ever attended. It was the third number of the lecture course, and along with the two previous numbers predicts well for the remaining entertainments. It is hoped Judge Lindsey can come to Westerville in the spring.

The funeral of Mrs. W. O. Knox, nee Dixon, formerly resident of Westerville, was held in the college chapel Thursday afternoon, December 13th. She was a student in Otterbein in former days.

TWO CHAPEL NOTICES.

Those girls taking "Daylight in a Dark Continent" will remain for a moment.—Mary Lambert.

I would like to see my mission class in "China" after chapel.—L. E. Myers.

Rev. Mr. Sechrist, who is the General Financial Secretary of the U. B. church, spent a few days with his family at this place last week.

On the evening of November 20 the Senior class journeyed to Columbus where they enjoyed an evening's entertainment at the Chittenden Hotel. The boys of the class gave the entertainment in honor of the girls.

Miss Naomi Jamison was recently called to Pomeroy where her grandmother is lingering near the point of death. The second day after Naomi returned from Pomeroy she was called home on account of her mother's illness.

Stringer and Anderson have vacated their rooms on Park street and have taken their abode on North State street. Davis cried aloud when the boys left.

The working force at the Ladies' Hall has been greatly increased in the last two weeks and it is quite probable that the ladies will have the honor of living in their own home next term.

Mr. Wildermuth's sister spent a few days with her friends here recently. During her stay she visited the Cleiorhetean open session.

Rev. Mr. Jamison recently spent a few hours here. Mr. Jamison is Mr. Bilsing's home pastor.

The classes in physical culture have been organized and had several meetings. Prof. Kalmbach has given some stunts that could almost be classed as contortion tricks.

George Daugherty—"The best time I ever had in my life was on my way to a funeral."

Several of the college boys recently attended the first of a series of three entertainments given by the Columbus Symphony Club in the Memorial Hall. This was very good, there being about seventy-five musicians in it. Mr. DuBois of this place was a participant.

Recently while debating the negative side of the question "Resolved, That marriage is a failure," Mr. Worstell said, "If you will pardon a personal experience"—then he dropped his head while the audience applauded.

Many of the young ladies are making trips to Columbus to do their Xmas shopping and many boys are wonder-

Mrs. Prof. Rosselot was an intimate friend of Dona Gilman, the Dayton girl who was maliciously murdered.

Mr. Ralph Weimer, a student in O. M. U., recently spent a few hours in this burg, spending most of his time on West street.

L. P. Cooper was in Columbus last Monday night on business.

Library Notes.

"The Russian Peasant and Autocracy" in the Political Science Quarterly for December is an extended treatment of late Russian history and of the conditions prevailing there at present.

"Athletics or Exercise" in the November Dielectric and Hygienic Gazette distinguishes between athletics which kill and exercise which builds up the physical man while the mental is being developed. It is a sensible view of the subject.

The President's message to Congress is a remarkable one and is addressed quite as much to the people as to the national legislative body. See the discussion of it in The Outlook for December 8.

In The World's Work for December are several articles on aerial navigation.

"What Life Means to Me," by Ella Wheeler Wilcox in The Cosmopolitan for December, discloses some of the principles of life which make the personality and writings of that authoress so interesting to the public.

In the Century for December is a careful discussion of the Panama Canal problem by Secretary of War Col. William H. Taft.

Y. M. C. A.

In framing our New Year resolutions let us not forget the Y. M. C. A. work. Every man knows the value of Bible and mission study as presented in the departments of the association. Our lives are now being molded. The habits formed to-day will likely follow us throughout life. And if we would develop our minds symmetrically a habit of systematic Bible and mission study is necessary.

The attendance and interest have been fairly good during the month.

Prof. Rosselot led the meeting of November 15. The subject was "The Little Things of Life." He showed that character is either positive or negative in consequence of the little things. If a football player tries to do all the little mean things he can, his life will bear this distinctive mark; while if he uses every opportunity to curb his temper he will be successful in self-control.

On November 22 S. L. Postlethwait presented the subject, "Causes of Failures."

On Thanksgiving evening a union Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. meeting was led by the college pastor, Rev. Mr. Daugherty. He chose for a subject "Thanksgiving," and brought out very beautifully how that each day we should live a thankful life for the wonderful blessings which we receive.

The meeting of December 6 was led by C. V. Roop, subject, "A Young Man's Difficulties." During his remarks he urged the necessity of setting high ideals, for we often take some fellow student for an ideal. If we put too much confidence in him, he may fall far below our expectation.

The third triennial convention of Y. M. C. A.'s in theological institutions in U. S. and Canada was held in Dayton, O., December 6 to 9.

Ten students were present from Otterbein.

Dr. Hugh Black, formerly of Edinburgh, Scotland, gave the opening address at the First U. B. church on Thursday evening. It was a strong appeal for a more broadly educated ministry. Among other speakers were Dr. Bosworth, of Oberlin, Rev. Stelzle, of New York, J. E. McAfee, G. H. Furbay, Robert E. Speer, and John R. Mott.

While the Christian Endeavor does not fall under this head yet we feel justified in mentioning it in this issue.

The meetings held each Sunday evening at 6:00 p. m. in the association hall have been exceedingly well attended; in fact the seating capacity of the hall is not sufficient to accommodate the numbers. Much interest has been manifest, and the meetings are very helpful.

On December 9 instead of the regular devotional meeting in the hall, the C. E. divided itself according to the classification of its members in the college classes, and each class met separately. This resulted very successfully as it gave opportunity for more persons to take part in the meeting and to come more in personal contact with each other.

As one listened to men such as these telling us how best to reach the workingman, what are the greatest foes of the Christian minister, why we should study missions, of the great world conflict being waged to save men from darkness, and lives that are worse than death, he could not help but feel his own responsibility as an educated man in such a time as this and receive an inspiration that will send him forth to live a more consecrated life.

Y. W. C. A.

There is a good interest in Y. W. C. A. at the present time. The devotional meeting for November 20 was led by Ruth Wyant, and although the evening was a very unpleasant evening, a goodly number were present. And all enjoyed the remarks upon the subject, "Peter, the Spirit Filled Leader."

The Missionary Committee had charge of the meeting November 27. Mrs. Mary Albert, editor of the Woman's Evangel and who has spent a number of years as a missionary in Africa, spoke of the work of the United Brethren Church in Africa. She had a large map of West Africa, and indicated the places where the church is operating missions. She told of the great need of the Academy in Free Town where our own Mr. Hursh is teaching. They have rented buildings in which they carry on their work at present. The Academy building will soon be erected.

There is a very gratifying number of students enrolled now. These young people are trained and sent out to be the most efficient missionaries to their countrymen.

Mrs. Albert referred very touchingly to Lucy Caulker, the sister of our beloved Joseph Caulker. This young woman and her husband are doing excellent missionary work far in the interior of Africa.

The girls on the Missionary Committee are to be congratulated in procuring so able a speaker as Mrs. Albert.

The meeting December 4 was led by Miss Lulu Bookwalter. The subject was well handled by Miss Bookwalter and the girls heartily responded in the meeting.

The meeting for December 11, was led by Miss Nellie Menke; subject, "The Reluctant Servant." Miss Menke and others brought out some new and very interesting thoughts upon the book of Jonah.

The closing service of the term is to be held next Tuesday evening. It is to be a Praise Service. A good attendance is anticipated.

The reports of committees in the last cabinet meeting were gratifying. There is a good interest in Bible Study and Mission Study. The Treasurer, Miss Billman, is succeeding well with the finances of the Association. She and her committee have been doing faithful work. They served hot sandwiches at the last football game and cleared over six dollars.

LOCAL ITEMS.

A crowd of six girls visited the rooms of several of the fellows on Friday night, November 23, leaving them in rather an upset condition. The boys were neatly surprised on their return from society.

There was once a young maiden named Ruth,
Who wished to learn music in youth.

She decided to get
For herself a cornet
And learn how to play it, forsooth.

But she soon had to quit it, poor Ruthie,
It had knocked out a little front toothie.

Said she, "No mithap;
I don't care a thnap,
For that nathy old horn wath too juithy."

E. H. Baker, who recently went home to his father's funeral, surprised his friends by taking to himself a wife before he returned.

Quite a large majority of students left the college halls for the Thanksgiving vacation, some going home, and others visiting friends elsewhere. W. L. Brown and his sister Mary were at the home of Dr. L. L. Custer, Dayton, O. George Daugherty visited with Bertram Saul, at Middletown.

Among those who went to Dayton to attend the convention of the Theological Students of U. S. and Canada were Trimmer, Postlethwait, Worman, Spafford, Duckwall, Knapp, Brooks, Emmitt, and Davis. They were permitted to hear John R. Mott, Robert Speer, Bishop McDowell, and many other men of fame.

W. G. Snavely was in town on the 8th and 9th of December.

Oliver Floyd, former student, sends greetings to Otterbein friends.

Marcellus Muskopf, Harry Thompson and his sister Nora were called home on November 26 by the death of their grandfather.

Dr. and Mrs. Scott entertained the students of the art department and all first and second team football men on Saturday evening, December 8. The principal feature of the evening was the old-fashioned school. J. H. Weaver acted as teacher. H. M. Worstell received the prize for submitting the best composition on the "Horse." O. A. Bailey received the prize for the best drawing. After the school was dismissed refreshments were served. Each pupil received his lunch in a handsome little basket.

Professor Cornetet is suffering from an attack of congestion of the lungs. His son Dwight is teaching the first and second classes in Greek. We all hope that the professor will soon recover.

A number of students assisted in the regular Sunday evening services at the Seventh Street Mission, in Columbus, Sunday evening, December 9. Among the number were Messrs. Schear, Walters, Smith, and Crosby, who rendered several selections of vocal music.

Has Roosevelt been married twice? Ask M. A. Phinney, who has been married the same number of times.

Dr. W. R. Funk happened to be traveling from this place to Dayton at Thanksgiving, and was accompanied home by his two sons and daughter.

Jimmie Weaver is a bundle of good things—pedagogue, student, society man, and lastly as recently he discovered much to his surprise, a preacher. Then he laughed.

The open sessions of the Cleiorhetean and Philalethean literary societies were held December 13th.

The Philophronean literary society entertained its friends at a special musical session on December 14th.

Track candidates and all lovers of athletics are interested in the construction of an indoor track in the west room of the basement of the gymnasium. Quite a large amount of work is necessary for the proper fitting up of the track. The students are donating labor and time to the task.

The question of sweater-vests for the wearers of the 'Varsity 'O' was finally decided by the association. Wearers of the insignia may have either a sweater or a sweater vest, provided the vest be according to regulations by the athletic management. Other schools have adopted the sweater-vest style, and it may entirely supplant the old sweater.

Ed Hollman, former student, is spending a few days with Westerville friends.

The annual banquet of the 'Varsity 'O' Association was held Saturday night, December 15. The spread was bounteous and delicious, the roasts and toasts abundant and uproarious, and the whole evening glorious. The athletes of Otterbein are to be envied for their fun.

The ladies received announcement of the specifications and regulations of Cochran Hall after chapel on Friday of last week. Since that time the hall has been visited by many who are anxious to see their new home. Small crowds of girls can now be seen vigorously discussing plans for next term.

The prudential committee scored a hit when on Thursday of last week they met and decided to extend the Christmas vacation one week, making the opening of school to come January 9. Otherwise the vacation would have lasted but twelve short days. The prime object of the decision was to enable the contractor to complete the ladies' dormitory before the opening of the winter term, which can now be accomplished nicely.
